A COPY of the LETTER

From his Excellency the Lord Generall Cromwell, sent to the Members of Parliament, ment of this Common-wealth.

Oras much as upon the dissolution of the late Parliament, it became necessary that the Peace, Safety and Government of this Common-wealth should be provided for; and in order thereunto, divers persons fearing God, and of approved fidelity and honesty, are by my Selfe, with the advice of My Councel of Officers nominated, to whom the Charge and Trust of so weighty Affaires is to be committed. And having good assurance of your love to, and courage for God, and the interest of his Cause, and of the good people of this Common-wealth, I Oliver Cromwell, Captain Generall and Commander in Chief of all the Armies and Forces raised and to be raised within this Common-wealth, do hereby summon and require you, being one of the persons nominated, personally to be and appear at the Councell Chamber, commonly known, or called by the name of the Councell Chamber at White Hall, within the City of Westminster, upon the fourth day of July next, ensuing the date hereof, then and there to take upon you the said Trust, unto which you are hereby called, and appointed to serve as a Member for the County of ~~the~~ And hereof you are not to fail. Given under My hand, and Seale the 24. of June, 1653.

O. CROMWELL

Attest, June 24. 1653.

This being the day appointed by the Letters, of S. in power, from his Excellency the Lord Generall Cromwell, for the meeting

ting of those Gentlemen that were called to the Supream Authority, they met accordingly in the Chancell Chamber, where being entred the Room, above one hundred and twenty in number, and being set round about the Table, the Lord Generall standing by the window opposite to the middle of the Table, and having as many of the Army-Officers as the room could well contain, on his right hand and on his left, his Lordship made a very grave Christian and seasonable speech and Exhortation, wherein he breisly recounted the many great and wondrous mercyes of God towards this Nation, and the Series of providence wherein the presence of God did wonderfully appear in carrying on this Cause, and bringing affaires into the present condition, beyond all expectation; ascribing the glory of all to God alone.

He set forth also in particular the progresse of affaires since the famous victory at Worcester, wherein that Arch Enemy of this nation was wholly subdued. He likewise laid down the actings of the Army there upon, after divers applications to the Parliament, and much being wanting, and forbearance, together with the grounds and necessity of their dissolving the said Parliament, which his Excellency declared to be for the preservation of this Cause, and the interest of all honest men who have been engaged therein.

Moreover, he very amply held forth the clearenesse of the Call given to the present Members to take the Supream Authority, and did from the Scriptures exhort them to their duties and incourage them therein, desiring that a tendernes might be used towards all godly and conscientious persons, of what judgement and under what form soever.

Which being ended, his Lordship produced an instrument under his own hand and seale, where by he did with the advice of his Officer, devolve and entrust the Supream Authority and Government of this Common-wealth, into the hands of the persons then met, who or any forty of them are to be held and acknowledged the Supream Authority of the Nation, unto whom all persons within the same, and the Territories thereunto belonging are to yeild obedience and subjection. And they are not to sit longer then the 3 day of November, ber, 1654. Three months before their dissolution they are to make choyce of other persons to succeed them, who are not to sit longer then a twelve month ; but it is left to them to take care for a succession in Government : which Instrument being delivered to the persons aforesaid, his Lordship commended them to the Grace of God.

This being done his Excellency and his Officers withdrew ; and the said persons so met, having the Supream Authority put into their hands, after some short space, adjourned till the next morning eight a'clock, and appointed to meet in the old Parliament House there to seek God for direction in this great work, and for his presence and blessing therein. Hereupon, without doing any further businesse, they all departed.

A Relation of the Mutiny on Tuesday the 22 of Nov: 1653. in the New Exchange, of the Portugall Ambassadors Followers, &c.

THis night was a great Mutiny at the New Exchange in the Strand, such as hath scarce ever been the like: The businesse upon the best information that I can have from those who were present in part of the businesse, and have conferred with others upon the whole, is this.

On Monday night (which was the night before) three of the Portugall Ambassadors family, whereof his brother was one, being at the New Exchange, they talking in French spake of such discourse of Transactions of some English Affairs, which Col. Gerhard, Sir Gilbert Gerhards brother, understanding the French Tongue, hearing, told them very civilly, villy, that they did not represent the stories they spake of right; whereupon one of the Portugalls gave him the lie, upon that they began to juttle, and all three fell upon Col. Gerhard, and threw him down, and got upon him; but tho he be but a little man, yet he threw him off that was upon him, and so was bustling with him a good while; there were some Gentlemen there, but knew not who it was they so assaulted, and so ne'r medled with them, and yet one of the Portugalls with his Dagger stab'd Col. Gerhard in the shoulder, and hurt him sore; but afterwards Mr. Anfraxer spake to the Portugalls, that it was not civill nor handsome for so many to fall upon one, three to one being very unequall, and endeavoured to pull one of them off, and so to perswade them to cease, and thereby he came to see who it was they had assaulted, who finding it to be Col. Gerhard which he knew well, and seeing them still pursue their rage upon him, he drew to relieve him, and after some bustle the Portugalls went away, one of them having a cut upon his cheek; and that night afterwards near twenty of their Attendants came to the Exchange, and would have quarrel'd with any body, and some ensing there was by some, but not much more that night, for it was late, and they returned home.

On Tuesday night, came about fifty of the Portugalls againe to the New Exchange, of which number were the Ambassadours brother, and two Knights of Malta, and they were led on by a Portugall in Buste, whom they call Capitaine, one well known to some in the Exchange, and they had generally double Arms, all or most part of them swords and pistols, and coats of Male, or Armour, some one thing, some another, to preserve their bodies from swords entering upon them. They had also two or three Coaches that brought Ammunition, in which were hand Granadoes and Borties, and some little barrells of powder, and bullets, and other necessities if occasion was. They had also some Boats ready to attend them at the water side, if occasion was for them also.

Thus they came with a resolution to fall upon every English Gentleman they should find in or about the Exchange and and entering in with this equipage the people were exceedingly frighted. For first came in the Captaine in the Buffe, who led them, and after him the Portugall Ambassadors brother, and the Knights of Malta, and to the rest, all with drawn swords, and in so furious a posture, as if they intended to kill every body they met with, that stood before them.

Hereupon the people fled into the shops in the Exchange to shelter themselves, and all that did not so they fell upon, though no man gave them the least affront, yet they pistol'd and cut, and wounded many.

Mr. Greneway a Gentleman of Graves Inne, Son to the Lady Greneway was there with his Sister and a Gentlewoman whom he was to have married, who desired them two to stand up in a shop where he saw them safe, and they would have had him to have staid with them, but he said he would only goe see what was the matter, but he was no sooner parted from them, but immediately the word being given by the Portugall Captaine in Buffe, which was Safa, which was the word when they were to fall on, without any affront offered towards them, one of them pistol'd him, and shot him in the head, and he is dead of his wounds: and many others they have dangerously wounded. Col. Mayo had twelve upon him at once, yet drew his sword, and fought with them as long as he was able to hold his sword in his hand, which being cut, he was forced to let his sword fall, and then cut and wounded him in many places. Mr. Tho: Howard, Mr. Carter, and divers others were wounded passing by.

The Horse at the Muse had taken alarm before they returned, and returning home, passing by the Muse, some of the Horse moving towards them, some of them discharged pistols towards the Horse, and the rest run home to the Ambassadors house; but the Horse guards took some of them and carried them into the Muse, and sent word thereof to the Lord Generall; and a party of horse pursued them, and beset the Ambassadors house. And Commis. Gen. Whalley sent into the Ambassador, acquainted him with this horrible attempt and bloody murder of his Followers, and shewed him his his men they had taken prisoners, and required the chiefe of the rest of them to be delivered in the hands of Justice, which the Ambassador was loath to doe. But seeing he could not baffle them, to stop the course of justice in so horrible a bloody businesse as that had been, he delivered up his brother and one of the Knights of Malta, and some others, such as they had then information was chiefe, and promised to secure the rest to be forth-coming any of them when they should be demanded. After which the Ambassador made his Addresse to the Lord Generall, and chiefly for his brother, but his Excellency told him that it did concern the publick, and therefore his Addresses must be to the Parliament and Councell of State. It is such a horrible businesse that his Excellency would not meddle with him in it.

The Portugals that are in custody are prisoners at Jameses, and the businesse is under Examination before the Councell of State.

For his Highness the Lord Protector of the Common-wealth of England, Scotland, and Ireland.

The Declaration, with the humble Addresse of the Generalls, and the severall Commanders present in the Fleet, by them severally subscribed.

THat these Nations of England, Scotland, and Ireland, having been for some years like the Bush which burned, but is not consumed: And though the Nations round about us stand gazing on to see us made a desolation, as well as a hissing unto them; yet we are hitherto by the mighty power of the Lord, and his wonderfull out-goings amongst us, made rather an astonishment in our preservation, then a reproach, by our ruine and devastation.

In which great Work of the Lord we acknowledge with thankfulness your Highness hath been a glorious Instrument, ment, and hath undergone many hardships and hazard of all that was near and dear unto you, even to life it selfe; and understanding by providence your Highnesse is intrusted with, and hath excepted of the Protection of this Commonwealth in the Government thereof.

We are in hopes that the Lord intends a settlement of Peace to these poor distracted Nations, and that our selves with all the people of the Lord shall enjoy and partake of the same under your Highnesse Protection, according to the Rule of the Lord Jesus. And therefore we have thought it necessary as a duty incumbent on us, to Declare that we shall willingly be obedient and faithfull to your Highnesse, in performance of your great Trust, and also in the utmost hazzard of our lives (with what else is near and dear unto us) be serviceable unto you, in the station the Lord hath placed you, against yours and the Commonwealths Enemies, in our severall places and capacities, during our Employments.

And having had good testimony of your great affection and earning bowells after the weale of Gods people, wee are emboldned and encouraged in all humility to make this following Address.

That your Highnesse will be pleased to have a more speciaall eye of favour unto them above all others, in regard they are near and dear unto him, who is the Lord of Lords, and King of Kings, even our Lord Jesus. For which cause he is ashamed to call them brethren; And doe humbly apprehend that their priviledges will be your priviledge. And to account of them as of your greatest Jewell, which will doubtlesse turne to your great advantage.

And hereby you will for time to come not onely ingage their hearts unto you, who in times past have not stood at a distance from you, but your Highnesse will also ingage the great Jehovah, your and their Father, to be be a refuge, shield, and defence unto you, as well as an ever lasting rest for you, when all the storms of this Commonwealth shall cease, which is and shall be the unfeigned prayers of,

Your Highnesse most humble and faithfull Servants.

Signed by the Generalls and the severall
Commanders present in the Fleet.

Monday Dec. 12. 1653. It being moved, That the sitting of this Parliament was not for the peace of the Common-wealth; and that therefore it was requisite to deliver up unto the Lord Generall Cromwell the powers which they received from him; and seconded by severall other Members, and the Speaker with many of the Members departed to Whitehall, being the greater number, and did by a writing under their hands resigne unto his Excellency their said powers.

Saturday, Decemb. 10. 1653.

The Parliament this day resumed the Debate upon the Report made this day from the Committee of Tythes, which is as follows.

1. That it be represented to the Parliament as the best way for ejecting ignorant, prophane, and scandalous Ministers; That Commissioners be sent from hence into all the Counties, divided into six Circuits (besides London and Middlesex) three Commissioners into each Circuit, to joyne with four or six in every County (and each riding in Yorkshire to be as a County) and that in every County the said persons or five of them (two of the Commissioners sent from hence being being alway present) be impowred to eject all Ministers (of that County) that are not of good behaviour, and holly in conversation, or that are not apt and able to teach, or in teaching hold not forth the faithfull word, or be not diligent, or labour not in the word and doctrine, or be greedy of filthy lucre: And be also impowred to settle godly and able persons to preach the Gospell in all voyd places, and to unite two or three Parishes together, so that none be above three miles from the public Meeting place.

2. That it be presented to the Parliament. That Dr. Arrowsmith, Col. Giffe, Maj. Haines, Mr. John Owen, Mr. Thomas Goodwyn, Mr. Ben. of Dorchester, Mr. Fairclough the elder, Mr. Leckie, Mr. Cargil, Mr. Stephen Marshall, Mr. Worthington, Mr. Turner, Mr. James, Mr. Martin Halbeck, Mr. Cradocke, Mr. Jesty, Mr. Arthur Barnidson, Mr. William Greenhill, Col. 4. That upon hearing and considering what hath been offered to the Committee touching propriety in Tithes of Incumbents, Rectors, Possessors of Donatives, or propriate Tithes. It is the opinion of this Committee, and resolved to be reported to the Parliament, that the said persons have a legall propriety in Tithes.

The House having spent severall dayes in debate of the whole Report, and especially of the first of the four parts thereof; and the Question being put, That this House doth agree with the first clause of the Report, it passed in the Negative.

Monday, Decemb. 12. 1653.

It being moved in the House this day, That the sitting of this Parliament any longer as now constituted, will not be for the good of the Common-wealth; and that therefore it was requisite to deliver up unto the Lord Generall Cromwell the powers which they received from him; and that motion being seconded by severall other members, the House rose, and the Speaker with many of the members of the House, departed out of the House to White-hall, where they, being the greater number of the members sitting in Parliament, did by a writing under their hands resigne to his Excellency their said Powers, and Master Speaker, attended with the Members, did present the same to his Excellency accordingly.

His Excellency the Lord Generall Cromwell and his Councell of Officers met this day, at which meeting, after a most excellent, wise, gracious, and pious Speech made by his Excellency, full of Religion towards God, prudence towards the State, and love and care towards this distracted Nation, some things were transacted in order to a settlement, and sweet composure; the union of all that fear the Lord is much desired, that so we may sit down comfortably under a safe and well grounded peace.

The late Parliament having upon their Dissolution delivered up the power which they received from his Excellency at their first sitting by a writing under their Hands and Seals: his Excellency thereupon called a Councell of Officers, and advised with other persons of intererest in the Nation, how this great burden of Governing England, Scotland, and Ireland, with the Armies therein, and Navies at Sea, should be born, and by whom; who after severall days seeking of God, and advising therein, it was Resolved, That a Councell of godly

godly able and discrete persons should be named consisting of twenty one: And that his Excellency should be chosen Lord Protector of the three Nations, And on Friday last his Excellency came down to West: and was intitled Lord Protector of the three Nations, the manner whereof was thus.

Decemb. 18. His Excellency the Lord Generall Cromwell about one of the clock in the afternoon, went from White-hall to Westminster in his Coach, foot Souldiers being on both sides the streets all along, and in the Pallace at Westminster were many Souldiers both Horse and Foot; his Excellency was attended by the Lords Commissioners of the Great Seal of England, the Judges and Barons of the severall Benches in their Robes, and after them the Councell of the Common wealth: And the Lord Mayor and Aldermen of the City of London in their Scarlet Gowns; with the Recorder and Town-Clerk all in their Coaches, who passed before his Excellency: and last of all came his Excellency in a black Suit and Cloak in his Coach, with his Life-Guard, and divers bare before him; and many of the chiefe Officers of the Army with their Cloaks, and Swords, and Hats on, passed on foot before and about his Coach.

In this equipage his Excellency, and Attendants came to Westminster-hall, where was a Chair placed in the High Court of Chancery, where being come, the Lords Commissioners of the Great Seal of England stood next to the Chair, the one on the one side, and the other on the other side, and next to the Lord Commissioner Liste who stood on the left hand of the Chair, stood his Excellency (all being bare, and his Excellency also) on every side of the Chair; in the next place stood all the Judges and Barons on both sides; and the Lord Mayor & Aldermen on the right side of the Court, next unto the Judges and the Councell, and the chiefe Officers of the Army on the left side of the Court.

The Rules for this New Government were then read, which consist of many particulars, expressed in an Instrument; the Instrument is large, which took up above halfe an hour reading, and was read by Mr. Jesop, one of the Secretaries of the Councell. After which, the Lord Commissioner

First read a Parchment in the nature of an Oath, to engage his Excellency to perform on his part, according to the Government before mentioned: During which time his Excellency held up his hands, and having heard it read accepted thereof, and subscribed thereto in the face of the Court. Then the Lords Commissioners of the Great Seal, and the Judges, &c. invited him to take possession of the Chair, as Lord Protector of England, Scotland, and Ireland, which he did, and sat down with his head covered, the Court continuing all bare. The Lord Commissioners delivered up to his Highness the Purse and Seals, and the Lord Mayor of London his Sword, which were presently delivered to them back again by his Highness, and then after a salute the Court rose.

First came the Aldermen and Councell before his Highness, from the Court to Westminster-hall Gate, where the Coaches were: after them the Judges, then came the Commissioners of the Great Seal, one of them bearing the Purse and Seals, and before his Highness came the Life Guard, then four Serjeants of Arms with their Maces, one being the Mace of the City of London, the second of the Chancery, the third of the Councell, and the other of the Parliament, born by the Sword bearer of London, Serjeant Middleton, Serjeant Dundy, and Serjeant Berkehead; and the Lord Mayor of the City of London went before his Highness with the Sword, and the Officers of the Army about his person; and in the Palace they took Coach at the Hall Gate, and returned to White-hall in the same equipage they went; the Lord Mayor rid bare with the Sword in the Boot of the Coach with his Highness; and there were great Acclamations and shoutings all along the streets as they passed.

His Highness the Lord Protector being returned to White-hall, he went with his Attendants to the Banqueting House, where they had an Exhortation made by Mr. Lockier, Chaplain to his Highness; which being ended, they were dismissed with three Volleys of shot by the Souldiers, between four and five a clock at night.

Decemb. 19. 1653. His Highness the Lord Protector, met with those named of his Councell, in the Councell Chamber at White-hall, it being the place where the Councell of State used to sit, and severall things were Transacted in order to a settlement, and this following Proclamation was ordered to be Printed and published on the Monday following.

This day this Proclamation following was published at Westminster and in the City of London, by divers Serjeants at Arms with their Maces. The Lord Mayor and Aldermen being present at the Exchange, &c.

By the Councell, A Proclamation.

WHereas the late Parliament dissolving themselves, and resigning their Powers and Authorities, the Government of the Common wealth of England, Scotland, and Ireland, by a Lord Protector, and successive Triennial Parliaments, is now established, and whereas Oliver Cromwell, Captain Generall of all the Forces of this Common wealth, is declared Lord Protector of the said Nations, and hath accepted thereof: We have therefore thought it necessary (as we herethy doe) to make Publication of the Premises, and strictly to charge and command all and every person and persons, of what quality and condition soever, in any of the three Nations; to take notice hereof, and to conform and submit themselves to the Government so established. And all Sheriffs, Mayors, Bailiffs, and other Publick Ministers, and Officers, whom this may concern, are required to cause this Proclamation to be forthwith published in their respective Counties, Cities, Corporations, and Market Towns, to the end none may have cause to pretend ignorance in this behalf. Given at Whitehall this 26 day of Decemr 1653.

December 21. 1653.

His Highnesse, the Lord Protector, and the Councell consisting thirteen in number, late in the Councell Chamber at White-hall, where his Highnesse in a sweet Speech to them, pressed the Councell to acc for God, and the peace and good of the Nations; and particularly recommended to them, to consider and relieve the distressed of the poor and oppressed: And severall things were Transacted in order to a quiet and peaceable settlement of these three Nations.

A Court Barron every three weeks, to Judge all Contracts, Debts, Promises, and Trespasses not exceeding 40 sterling. July

July 1. 1654. The High Court of Justice met in Westminster-hall, the Lord Com. Lisle sat as President, their Commission was read, and the Court called over by their names; Mr. Attorney Gen. Prideaux, Mr. Solicitor Gen. Ellis, and Mr. Serjeant Glyn, were Counsell for his Highnesse the Lord Protector. The Lieut. of the Tower, first brought Mr. Somerset Fox, one of the Conspirators in the late Treason, to the Bar, and Mr. Attorney Gen. then presented a Charge of High Treason against him ingrossed in parchment to the Court, which was read : The Prisoner said very little to it, but made a Confession to the Court of so much as (he said) he was guilty of, having some few dayes before made the like confession, and given it under his hand as the truth, and accordingly owned it in Court, his confession under his own hand was also read, which did discover what was his part to act as an Agent in this bloody designe. The Court having satisfied themselves concerning Mr. Fox, the Lieut. of the Tower brought Mr. John Gerrard, and Mr. Peter Vowel, to the Bar, where Fox also stood, and the like Charge of High Treason was read against them also ; which Charge consisted of these heads, viz. The murdering of his Highness the Lord Protector as he should go to Hampton Court on a Saturday pre-fixt : The seizing of all the Guards about Whitehall, the Mews, & St. Jameses, & the making of themselves masters of the City of London, and the Tower with all the Magazines within the same : The proclaiming of Charles Stuart King, & chief Magistrate of England, Scotland, and Ireland, and the Dominions thereunto belonging, and other high Treasons tending to involve the Common-wealth in a new bloody war. To which charge of High Treason the said Gerard and Vowel pleaded Not guilty, pretending much ignorance, and that they were innocent of the knowledge of any such designe ; and did very much presse the Court to grant them Counsell to advise withall, and that they might be tried by a Jury, which being not to be granted unto them, and waved, severall Witnesses were produced upon their Oaths. to make appear what they were charged with, as John Wiseman, Dr. Hudson, a blind man, Mr. Charles Gerbard Brother to the Prisoner, Capt. Dale, one

Mr. Wharton, and others, who did sufficiently prove, That Mr. Gerrard was to command the party who were to murder his Highness the L. Protector as he was going to Hampden Court with thirty Horse ; and that the said Gerrard had engaged to bring 25 of the 30, and Maj. T. Henshaw was to bring 5 more : and it was also proved against him, that he, with Maj. Henshaw, and the Witnesse J. Wiseman, did view the severall Guards at Whitehall, the Mewes, and St. James's, and had computed and designed 600 Horse as sufficient to seize and secure those Guards, appointing also a party of Horse to march into Tuttle-fields, as friends, and so to fall upon the forces then mustering, and cut them off : It was also proved against him by his Brother Mr. Charles Gerrard, that he was at severall meetings at his own Chamber near Essex house, and at other places with Maj. Henshaw, and Finch, and others, about this designe, and particularly at Mr. Jones his House in Rose street in Covent Garden where in a Chamber Henshaw and Finch gave an account that they had each of them listed 800 men to be ready at a dayes warning ; severall other things were proved, which he obstinately denied ; but confest his name was much used therein, but was no intent Actor. And for Mr. Vowel, severall Witnesses upon their Oaths did testifie, that he was at many meetings with Henshaw, Finch, Gerhard, and other of the Plotters to contrive the management of this businesse, being a person thought more fit to be a Councillor, then an Actor, and his reward should have been to be Master of Suttons Hospitall ; and it was also proved against him, though he could not act himselfe, yet he promised to procure those that should act, and did engage one Capt. Bilksley, who undertook to provide Riders for the Horses who should be taken out of Islington fields ; it was also proved his buying of Pistols, and many other things sufficient to prove his hand deep in the businesse. And for Somerset Fox, he confessed so much as saved the Court much trouble in examining witnesses : His part was, to engage as many Apprentices and Citizens of London as he could in the businesse, that so when the falling on was upon the Guards at White hall, the Mewes, and St.

St. Jameses, and Col. Ingoldsbies Regiment in Southwark and the rest of the Plot was in agitation, there might be a rising and tumult made purposely in the City, to imploy what force was there, that no help might come elsewhere; and the Lord Mayor was to have been seized and carried to proclaim Charles Stuart King at the Exchange, and Dr. Wharton was to see him proclaimed: yet notwithstanding all these witnesses, Gerhard and Vowell denied they knew of any thing of such a designe; but they were not so satisfied, but that a base design was intended, too unworthy for a Gentleman to have his hand in, as did further appear by the testimony of John Wiseman, who did relate his going over into France with his brother in Law Maj. Henshaw, where they met the said Mr. Gerhard at Paris, and there had free access to the pretended King of Scots, about this designe, and received great encouragement in the businessse from Prince Rupert; whereupon Henshaw and Wiseman returned into England, and Mr. Gerhard came over about 3 weeks after to put the businessse in agitation, immediately upon his arrivall, the said Henshaw, Finch, &c. repaired to his lodging near Essex house, and received an account of the business, and so proceeded to act, as the said Wiseman testified. The Witnesses being all examined, and the Prisoners heard what they could say for themselves, the Attorney Gen. Solicitor Gen. and the Councell for the Commonwealth summ'd up all the Evidences, and drew them in to severall heads, which they presented to the Court with the Prisoners at the Bar, as objects of their Justice, the said Gerhard and Vowell still remaining obstinate. The Prisoners were commanded back to the Tower.

July 6. The Portugall Ambassadors Brother, and the rest, were againe brought to their Tryall at the Upper Bench at Westminster and a Jury of 12 men, whereof 6 Denizes and 6 Aliens Impannel'd and swore: The Am^{ts} Brother pleaded very hard his ignorance in the Lawes of England, and desired Councell, but that was denied, and he told, That the Court were of Councell equall, and alike to him, as to the Commonwealth, and would doe according to Law and the Justice of the Cause; Hereupon many Witnesses were sworn and examined, and upon full hearing of the Evidence, and what the Prisoners could say, the Jury withdrew, and in a short time returned, and delivered their Verdict by their Foreman (all agreeing) finding them all 5 guilty of the murder and Felony for which they stood indicted; whereupon Judgement was afterwards pronounced, after a short speech made by the L: Chief Justice Rolls in the name of the Court, That they should return from whence they came and from thence be carried to the place of Execution, & there severally to be hanged by the neck till they are dead. The day appointed Saturday, but the Prisoners moved for respite till Monday, which was granted.

This afternoon also the High Court of Justice sat in Westminster-hall, and there was brought before them Mr. Gerard, Mr. Vowel, and Mr. Fox, who were demanded what they had more to say for themselves, Gerhard and Vowel spake much to excuse themselves, notwithstanding what had been proved against them; after which the L. President Liste made a learned speech, to convince them of the desperate wickedness of their designe, and how fully the Charge had been proved, and what punishments the Law had provided in such cases, after which the Sentence of the Court was read severally to all three, to this effect, That upon mature consideration of the Treasons and Murthers plotted, and contrived, by them against his Highness the Lord Protector, and the Common-wealth, and raising a bloody war in the same, the Court did adjudge them to be hanged by the neck untill they be dead. Mr. Gerhard desired the Execution might be altered, that he might be beheaded or shot to death, and therefore petitioned to the Lord Protector.

About 4 in the afternoon, Mr. John Gerhard was brought to the Scaffold on Tower-hill, his behaviour was sprightly, the substance of his discourse Cavalier-like. boasting himself of the profession of Religion which was established by Queen Elizabeth, K. James, and Charles, to which family he declared his affection. He acknowledged himself guilty of former sins (but named them not) for which he had deserved death heretofore; but as touching the Crime for which he was to die, die, he spent not many words, onely he confessed that he knew of the plot. At length he submitted his neck to the Executioner, who at once severed the Head from the Body.

July 10. 1654. Don Pontaleon Sa, Brother to the Portugall Ambassador, and Mr. John Gerhard, were both beheaded at Towerhill.

But a little before he lay down, came the Portugal Ambassadors Brother, Don Pontaleon Sa. A very observable hand of Providence, that these two persons, Gerhard and the Don, who began that quarrell, in the prosecution whereof the murder was committed at the New Exchange, should meet thus to die at the same time and place, for different crimes. It is also to be noted, that God did even mark out this Portugall for Justice; for when he escaped out of Newgate at first, he was immediately found out: and now having by Order of the Court been remanded to the Keeper of Newgate, he was very near an escape thence againe, but the Lord prevented him: For yesternight, being Lords day at night, a new plot was was laid for his escaping by two women, one was Mrs. Gowdon who brought another woman, who under her womans apparrell had a Foot-boys suit on; the womans cloths being taken off, they drest up the Don in them, and so he came down with Mrs. Gowdon, to to the door, where the Keeper narrowly prying under the hood, discovered the fraud, and spoyled the businesse. This failing, and the hour of execution next day approaching, he was conveyed from Newgate to Tower hill in a Coach and six Horses in mourning having divers of his Brothers retinue with him, much lamenting his condition. Being upon the Scaffold, he spake somewhat to those that understood him, in excuse of his offence, laying the blame of the quarrell and murder upon the English. So after some few private words and passages of Popish devotion with his Confessor, he surrendred to him his Beads and Crucifix, and his Head to the Block, which was chopt off with somewhat more then a single blow. The rest condemned about th t murder, were rerieved all, save an Irish man, who was executed also this day early in the morning, at Tiborn.

In the morning also of this day, the Articles of Peace being fully concluded betwixt England and Portingall, were signed by the said Ambassador, and immediately thereupon he withdrew from his house out of Town.

It pleased his Highnesse to reprove Somerset Fox, because of his ingenuous confession, but this day the other two were executed for their Treasons against his Highnes and the Commonwealth. Vowel a School-master, was in the morning executed upon a Gallows at Charing-Crosse, and in the same place it was expected Gerhard should have suffered the same death, but he had the favour granted him to loose his head: Vowel spake little of the crime for which he suffered, but the main of his discourse was to proclaim how great a Zealot he was to the old way of Religion, and to the cause of the late King and his family; wherein he let fall divers expressions tending to sedition, and few of repentance for his fault touching which he would not speak out, but willed the Executioner to doe his Office, and so after halfe an hours hanging he was cut down; and conveyed away in a Coach.

January 22. 1654.

The five months (according to the Instrument of the Government for the time allotted to sit) being expired, his Highnesse the Lord Protector sent a message to them to meet him in the Painted Chamber, about 12 of clock; where they being met, he made a speech about two hours long for the dissolving of the Parliament, and so declared that he did dissolve them.

Charles by the grace of God, Prince of Wales, Duke of Cornwall, etc.

YOU will easily believe that I am very well perswaded, how carefull and sollicitous you are for my contentment, and of the course you resolve to take: The truth is, I have bin so tender of my friends, that I have deferred to call upon them to appear, till I could find my selfe able to give them good encouragements from abroad, but since

since I find that comes on so slowly, I would no longer refraine those affections, which I must desire to be beholding to; and have reason to believe, that if they who wish one and the same thing, knew each others minds, the work would be done without any difficulty, and if there were any handsome appearance in any one place, the rest would not sit still; and I am perswaded I should then find supplies from those who are yet afraid to offer them; however I am sure I would my selfe be with those that first wished for me, and to that purpose I would keep my selfe within a reasonable distance. Consult with those you dare trust, if you are already agreed upon a time, and you cannot promise your selves any thing that you will be disappointed in, and which is in July 16. 1655.

CHARLES R.

March 13. 1655.

THis day his Highnesse, as also the Members of the Coun-cell, and the Officers of the Army, were busie about the Plot, and to subdue the plotters in several places.

All the Horfes about London were this day seized on by Order from his Highnesse and the Councell, to prevent any rising here.

This evening some hundred of Armes were brought into Whitehall from the Tower by water in Boats, Backs, and Breasts, and Swords, which are there ready as occasion shall offer for use.

His Highnesse and the Councell sat very late untill after midnight this night, making all possible means for suppression of all tumults and insurrections, according which several Commissions, and Instructions, and Letters, were dispatched to the several Counties; so the end the Comman weish may be established in Peace, that those who are risen may be suppressed, and to prevent the like in other places.

A Relation of the severall Risings, the truth whereof is as followeth.

THere were some Cavaliers said to be risen about Merioneth shire, and other parts in Wales, reported in all to be 7 or 8 hundred, but not like to be so many of that party, for some of those that rise in Wales were Inhabitants to oppose any that should rise as was feared, which intended to joyne with those of the Army.

Another party were risen in Nottingham shire, noised to be 500, but not thought so many, towards whom a party from Col. Hacker marched out of Leicester shire to suppress them; their intent was thought to be, to have joyned with another party at Shrewsbury which were discovered, and so their designe frustrated.

There were four men to go into Shrewsbury Castle, two in womans apparrell, and the other two as their men to wait on them; who being got in, at a seasonable time were to give notice by shooting off a Pistoll to a party of horse which they were to let in, and so surprize the Castle, of which Collonell Mackworth, one of the sons of the old Collonell Mackworth deceased, now the Governour, having notice, prevented their designe; and hath apprehended the Lord Newport, one White, Sir Thomas Harris, and severall of the Actors: about 100 horse were found in a Barn, and the Armes under straw in the same Barn, which are taken, and those parts secured. Chester was also intended to be seized on.

Those that were risen in Nottingham shire so soon as they had an Alarm from Collonell Hackers Troops marching against them from Leicester shire, the chiefe of the Cavaliers met in consultation what to doe, and presently resolved to disperse and be gone; because they were prevented of joyning with those intended to have risen at Shrewsbury, and that a party of the Army were marching towards them, and they had no security to retreat any where; the Countries about not rising as was expected, but rather opposing them: It was debated what they should doe with their Armes, for they had received a Cart load of Armes, some would have had them thrown into the water, but it was resolved to have them sent back to the house from which they were sent to them, which accordingly was done, and the Cavaliers dispersed presently upon it; and some of the chief of them are apprehended, and the Armes seized on.

Yorke. March 26. 1655.

Sir Richard Maliverer, on Thursday night last, sent for all his Tennants to a great Supper, and then invited them all to joyne with him in taking up Armes, and told them they intended that night to take Yorke for the King, and appointed them a gate where he would meet them, some four went along with him, divers Gentlemen met them upon Hessay More, and Carts laden with Armes; after they had been there a while, the appearance was so small, to what was expected, that they parted againe. Sir Richard Maliverer went home, and bid his Lady to take the best course she could for her selfe, for he was necessitated to flye, wishing himselfe well arrived beyond the Seas, and so departed from her.

The Intelligence touching the Cavaliers that were at Salisbury, is as followeth.

THe Judges came to Salisbury on Saturday last, being met by Mr. Dove the High Sheriff and his men, and that divers of the Cavaliers came into the Town, it being a time (as they supposed) of least suspicion. On the Lords day about midnight the Cavaliers rendezvouzed, and were above 100. Monday morning early they seized all the horses, seized on the Sheriff about seven a clock, would have forced him to proclaime Charles Stewart King, which he refusing, they they wounded him in severall places, cut him over the face with a sword, knocked him over the head with a pistoll, yet he told them he would loose his life before he would doe it, and though he offered them money and other offers, yet they took him away. The Commander in chief was one Sir Joseph Wagstaffe, formerly a Lieut. Collonell, at the beginning of the late wars, in the Parliaments Army; but now revolted to the late King, was a Collonell under him; and now Major Generall to this intended Brigade for Charles Stewart. And they plundered both the Judges, the Sheriff, the Justices, the Lawyers, and Gentlemen, and all, of all they could get fit to carry away; But afterwards one Penruddock told the Judges that Maj. Gen. Wagstaffe had given orders to assure them, that they should receive no harm in their own persons. After that they had taken from the Judges their Paroll, they let out the prisoners, some for debt (as Mr. Gokin who was in for 1000 l. and others) and all the Theeves and malefactors, with their Irons upon them, mounted those that would joyne with them, and went out (after they had proclaimed Charles Stewart King) being about 200. And from thence went to Blanford, encouraging their followers, that their chiefe Leader was coming from France to head them with 10000 men, for they began to be discouraged that the Country people did not rise and joyne with them as was expected; so that some of them have left them, among which some of them are come to Whitehall to beg pardon. They went from thence towards Dorchester.

The chief are said to be,

Thursday and Friday last, at Salisbury and Excester, being the 3 and 4 of this instant May, 1655.

Sir William Ingram, Sir Walter Vavasor, Sir Hen: Slingsby, and divers other Gentlemen, are suspected to have had an hand in the businesse ; a party of horse is gone this morning to secure such as can be found : Sir William Ingram is brought in already.

Part of the Instructions and Orders given to the Major Generalls for preserving the Peace of the Commonwealth, are as followeth.

They are to endeavor the suppressing all Tumults, Insurrections, Rebellion, or other unlawfull Assemblies, which shall be within the said Counties, as also all Invasions from abroad, and to that purpose shall have power to draw together the

the said Forces or Troops, and march into such places as they shall judge convenient in England and Wales.

They are to take care and give order, That all Papists and others who have been in Armes against the Parliament, or assisted the late King or his Son in the late Wars, as also all others who are dangerous to the peace of the Nation, be disarmed, and their Arms secured in some adjacent Garrisons, or otherwise disposed of, as may be for the publick service.

And to the end that the Highways and Roads may be more safe for Travellers, and the many Robberies and Burglaries daily committed may be prevented They, with the said Captains and Officers shall use their best endeavors to find out all such Thieves, Robbers, Highway-men, and other dangerous persons as lurk & lie hid in any place within the several Counties; and the houses and places which they frequent and usually lodge in, and take such course for the apprehending of them, and also for the prosecuting them and their Receivers, as is agreeable to Law. And they have hereby power to appoint such reward, not exceeding ten pounds, to such person as shall discover and apprehend any such Thief, Highway-man or Robber, to be paid unto them after the conviction of the party so discovered and apprehended; which the Sheriff for the time being shall pay, and which shall according to an Act of Parliament, be intitled, An Act for the better and more effectual discovery and prosecution of Thieves & Highway-men, be allowed to him upon his account.

They are to have a strict eye upon the Conversation and carriage of all Disaffected persons within the several Counties. And they shall give the like direction to all the said Captains and Officers at their Meetings, to be watchfull and diligent in the same kind: As also that no Horse-races, Cock-fightings, Bear-baitings, Stage-plays, or any unlawfull Assemblies be suffered or permitted within their Counties. Forasmuch as Treason and Rebellion, is usually hatched and contrived against the State upon such occasions, and much Evill and Wickednesse committed.

They and the foresaid Officers, shall labor to informe themselves of all such idle and loose people that are within their

their Counties, who have no visible way of Livelihood, nor calling or employment, and shall consider by what means they may be compelled to work, or be sent out of the Common-wealth: As also how the poor and impotent of those Counties may be employed, and better provided for, then now they are, and certifie the same to us, and the Councell, for our further Direction thereupon. And in the mean time, shall endeavor as far as in them lies, that the Laws in such cases, made and provided, be put in effectuell Execution.

They shall in their constant Carriage and Conversation, encourage and promote Godlinesse and Vertue, and Discourage and Discourtenance all Prophanesse and Ungodlinesse; and shall endeavor with the other Justices of the Peace, and other Ministers and Officers, who are intrusted with the care of those things that the Laws against Drunkennesse, Blaspheming, and taking of the Name of God in vaine, by swearing and cursing, Plays and Interludes, and prophaning the Lords day, and such like wickednesse and abominations, be put in more effectuell execution then they have been hitherto.

They shall take an exact account of what proceedings have been upon the Ordinance for Ejecting of Ignorant, Insufficient, and Scandalous Ministers and Schoolmasters, and take care that the same be effectually put in Execution for the time to come, in all the Counties aforesaid; and that from time to time they give an account to us and our Councell.

All those that had any way assisted the King, were Decimated; that is, they were to pay the tenth part of their Estate, to the bearing of the charges of the Army, which was setled in every County throughout the Land.
